DAY 5

FD Jesuit Ruins
Late departure from PSS

The province of Misiones gets its name from the Jesuit Missionaries that arrived here in the 17th Century and the remains of some of their settlements have become a cultural Unesco World Heritage Site, so they are well worth a visit despite the distance. After all, their history even inspired an Oscar-winning Robert de Niro movie. Since San Ignacio, Loreto and Santa Ana are located about 3 hours to the south of Puerto Iguazu, a sensible option is fitting this outing into the last day before departing from the Posadas airport (only 70 km away) instead of returning to Awasi.

Only Aerolineas Argentinas or Austral fly from Posadas airport, and the chosen flight should be in the late afternoon or in the evening to allow enough time.
