

Commitment to Health and Safety

Ongoing Commitment to Safety

- The entire onboard crew is fully vaccinated and all vessels adhere to regional health and safety standards.
- All ships are flagged in the country in which we operate, reassuring our guests to disembark in any of our ports or anchorage locations.
- All vessels comply with the health and safety standards of the International Safety Management (ISM), the World Health Organisation (WHO), and the International Maritime Organisation (IMO).
- No crew changes during the entire duration of each itinerary, reducing the risk of potential outside exposure.

Pre-embarkation & Life Onboard

- Vaccination checks and PCR tests are not conducted prior to boarding, however, operator continues to work closely with local government and health authorities to ensure the highest standards of safety.
- Guests are advised to check with their respective airlines on the entry requirements of their travel destination.
- Their vessels feature health measures – such as P.P.E (personal protection equipment) and an onboard paramedic – as per regional standards and requirements.

Cleaning & Sanitization

- Cabins will be cleaned and sanitized three times a day, ensuring the highest standards of hygiene.
- Installation of hands-free faucet technology in common area bathrooms.
- Cleaning and disinfection of all excursion equipment, prior to and after use, including but not limited to skiffs and tenders, kayaks, bicycles, and life vests.

Food Safety

- Implementation of global food safety policy following HACCP (Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point) principles for cold chain supply protocols, supervised by a qualified food safety officer.
- Breakfast buffet meals will be served by staff in accordance with proper sanitization protocols.
- Production kitchens are staffed by well-equipped and highly trained personnel who utilize international best practices in sanitation and quality control, as well as usage of products to secure food safety.
