

VINICUNCA

Conquer the mountain of seven colors

Located in the Vilcanota mountains at an altitude of 5 036 meters, in Cusco's Pitumarca district, Vinicunca is remarkable for its brightly-colored slopes, tinged with contrasting tones which together form a rainbow effect.

Conquer the summit of the mountain of seven colors via an incredible walk through beautiful Andean scenery, during which you will feel the mystery of what for local people is a sacred place. Discover along the way picturesque villages and enjoy extraordinary views of stunning lakes, watched over by imposing snowcapped peaks.
